

New Evidence Proves It...

Not Only Stop But Actually Reverse Osteoarthritis!

By now we have all heard that glucosamine sulfate has proven itself to reduce the pain and suffering of those afflicted with osteoarthritis. Even Orthopedic Surgeons are willing to admit this. Now, new research published in the Lancet in January 2001 has gone even farther.

This research, states that glucosamine sulfate could be the first treatment to actually slow the progression of osteoarthritis. Arthritis expert, Tim McAlindon said this is a landmark in osteoarthritis research.

You may not be aware that osteoarthritis is present in almost everyone by the age of 70; therefore this will likely be a painful degenerative joint disease that most of us will have to face.

Previous studies have indicated that glucosamine sulfate, could dull the pain of arthritis. Experts say, however, this latest study goes much further because it shows for the first time that it could actually improve the structure of the joints. McAlindon says, "This provides compelling evidence of glucosamine as a reasonable and safe treatment for osteoarthritis."

The study involved 212 people with arthritic knees. "The results are impressive," McAlindon said. "Patients assigned to glucosamine experienced significant improvements in pain and disability that were sustained for the three years of the study, whereas the scores among the placebo group worsened."

This information confirms what many people with osteoarthritis, who have been taking glucosamine sulfate supplements, have been experiencing: Not only has the pain diminished, but mobility has improved. It is now evident, as shown through scientific research, that glucosamine sulfate can actually improve the disease of osteoarthritis.

More arthritics take glucosamine and its companion nutritional supplement, chondroitin along with MSM, than take traditional painkillers and anti-inflammatories. Especially good news is that many people suffering with the debilitating pain of osteoarthritis are able to cut back and even stop the powerful prescription drugs they have been taking for pain and swelling. Even better, these nutritionals do not have side effects. It's no wonder these have been called "wonder drugs".

To help celebrate this new and exciting news, One Life is offering a special on our Joint Plus formula. Please see page _____. Joint Plus is one of our most popular and re-ordered products that was specifically developed to be a powerful supplement for joint support. It contains all three joint-saving natural ingredients in one convenient formula and you can't beat the value of the special found on page _____. Pay close attention, this special runs for the month of May 2001 only!